

Born in the greater Boston area, comedian Joe List began his career in 2000 weeks after graduating from High School. His rapid ascent in the Boston club scene and quirky humor prompted the Boston Globe to profile him in 2005, describing him as the "most talented" and "the city's freshest new comedian(s), showing real promise, real early".

List moved to New York City in 2006, becoming a favorite at clubs across the city. He tours as the preferred feature act for Comedy Central's Nick DiPaolo in addition to his own shows in clubs and colleges. 2007 saw List perform at the prestigious HBO Las Vegas Comedy Festival where his solid performance garnered industry attention and positive reviews.

List made his national television debut on Comedy Central's Live at Gotham which premiered in July 2008.

List currently resides in New York City where he can be seen in the clubs regularly.

For Additional Information Please Contact
Bjorn Wentlandt
MacDonald-Murray Management
310-275-4190