

An engaging performer, Pat's presence on stage is fueled by an off-kilter comedic sensibility that has been described as "deceptively conversational and fun to watch."

Pat has made numerous television appearances which include his own half hour special, Comedy Central Presents: Pat Dixon, which debuted in 2006. He has appeared on The Late, Late Show with Craig Ferguson, Premium Blend, Very Funny Live!, various shows on the E! Network and the Fox News program Red-Eye. Pat went international with two appearances on The World Stands Up airing on BBC America.

In July 2008, Pat made his debut performance at The Just For Laughs Comedy Festival in Montreal appearing in such shows as Best of the Fest. In addition to being a regular at comedy clubs across the nation, Pat has opened for Ron White performing in theatres and was part of The Slackers Tour in clubs, casinos and theaters in 2006. In 2005 Pat participated in the Aspen Comedy Festival.

Pat is also heard on the radio by loyal listeners each week who tune in for his comedy movie reviews in select markets. Pat has a feature, "The Nations only unbiased movie review" weekly heard on 98.9 "The Rock" Kansas City and "Wags & Elliot" WLVQ Columbus.

Audiences everywhere have enjoyed Pat's relaxed stage manner, dry delivery and boldly creative material. Pat Dixon is one of the most promising young comedians working today – a crowd pleaser and a comic's comic.

Pat currently lives in New York where he is a regular at clubs all over the city.
